Cuban Reports Indicate Castro Plans Offensive

HAVANA (AP)—Rebel Leader Fidel Castro Monday night was reported preparing an offensive in Oriente Province to back up his declaration of total war against the Batista government.

Residents around Sagua de Tanamo on the northern coast said about 600 rebels had encamped at the foot of Sierra Cristal under command of Raul Castro, brother of the rebel chief.

A smaller column headed by Maj. Juan Almeida was moving in the eastern part of the province.

Apparently both columns were awaiting Castro's orders to attack army posts and possibly some towns.

Castro has declared big armed attacks would be started after midnight April 5 unless President Batista quits by then.

He also said the step-up in military action would be coordinated with a general strike.

Sagua de Tanamo is about 50 miles northeast of Santiago de Cuba.

Unconfirmed reports from Manzanillo in the southwestern end of Oriente Province said rebels had motorized patrols moving out from Castro's hideout in the Sierra Maestra.

Some sources in Manzanillo said Americans engaged in oil exploration in that area were planning to evacuate their families. The American Embassy in Havana reiterated that no Americans had been advised to leave Cuba.

Rebel terrorism continued from easternmost to westernmost Cuba.

Shootings and bomb explosions were reported around Pilon on the south coast of Oriente, and several buses were burned. Two gasoline trucks were destroyed by fire near Bayamo.

Colin P. Kelly III Will Follow His Dad's Footsteps

CHESTER HEIGHTS, Pa. (AP)—Colin P. "Corky" Kelly III, has decided he wants to attend the U.S. Military Academy at West Point.

The decision by the 17-year-old son of one of the nation's first heroes of World War II was announced Monday by his mother, Mrs. J. Watson Pedlow.

It came a little more than 16 years after President Franklin D. Roosevelt had written a letter to "the President of the United States in 1936." Roosevelt asked that the son of Army Air Corps Capt. Colin P. Kelly Jr. be given consideration for an appointment to the academy.

Roosevelt's letter, delivered to President Eisenhower, asked the consideration in appreciation of the service rendered his nation by Capt. Kelly.

Kelly lost his life Dec. 10, 1941, three days after the Japanese had attacked Pearl Harbor. His B17 bomber was shot down in the Philippines as he returned from a mission. Kelly was awarded the Distinguished Service Cross and the Distinguished Flying Cross.

Human Hair Test Helping Doctors To Treat Cancer

BETHESDA, Md. (AP)—A human hair test is helping doctors treat some cancer patients here. Hair roots are affected by a drug, amethopterin, used in treating leukemia. By pulling out some hairs and looking at the roots under a microscope, doctors can see signs of how well the drug is working and whether more can safely be given.

Prince Feisal May Become Kingdom's New "Strong Man"

CAIRO (AP)—King Saud has turned over to his brother, the pro-Egyptian Crown Prince Feisal, full control over the oil-rich Saudi Arabian kingdom's foreign, financial and internal affairs. Cairo's press, reporting this Monday, said Feisal presented his elder brother, Saud, with a list of strong demands which, if authentic, might indicate Feisal is emerging as the kingdom's strong man.

The Saudi Arabian delegation at the United Nations confirmed the transfer of internal and domestic power to Feisal. Arab sources at the U. N. said Feisal now will have complete authority over the Saudi Arabian armed forces, but that Saud intended to remain head of the state.

While some sources cautioned against reading too much into the Saudi decree, there were indications that Cairo was expecting Feisal to work for a reconciliation between Saudi Arabia and Egypt. The two nations have been feuding over Egyptian-Syrian charges that King Saud plotted to have President Nasser assassinated and to break up Nasser's new United Arab Republic of Egypt and Syria. Feisal long has held the titles of premier and foreign minister, but the actual power had been wielded by King Saud himself. Feisal's pro-Egyptian tendencies indicate that Saudi Arabia probably will remain aloof from the Iraqi-Jordan Federation which rivals Nasser's U.A.R.

In addition, a Saudi-Egyptian reconciliation could strengthen Nasser's position with regard to the flow of Middle East oil to the West. The U.A.R. is astride the Suez Canal and the pipelines which carry oil westward.

Cairo sources say a rise in Feisal's power and influence might have the effect of increasing pressure on the Arabian-American Oil Co. to increase oil revenues to Saudi Arabia, but that otherwise it would likely have little effect upon American oil operations.

Senate Debates Roads Speedup

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate began debating Monday a bill to speed roadbuilding as an anti-recession move. The measure's most disputed provision would aim at curbing billboards along new superhighways.

Sen. Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex.) called up the highway bill for floor debate. However, no votes were expected for at least a day. Johnson said he would call for longer-than-usual Senate sessions until the bill is passed.

Opponents of the billboard control provision denounced it as an effort to bribe the states to surrender another portion of their sovereignty.

The disputed provision would offer the states a bonus to regulate billboards along the planned 41,000-mile superhighway network—the interstate system. The bonus would amount to one-half of one per cent of the cost of the interstate segments, for which the federal government now pays 90 per cent.

Teacher Beaten By Negro Gang

NEW YORK (AP)—A small group of Negro youths invaded an outdoor class of private school pupils Monday and began terrorizing them. A teacher who intervened was beaten with his own baseball bat and had his pockets rifled.

Police said the five or six Negroes fled with $16 after attacking the teacher, Arthur Santos, 36, a ministerial student who teaches at a Seventh Day Adventist school in the Bronx.

Eight stitches were required to close a scalp wound and five stitches for a torn lip suffered by Santos.

Santos told police he saw the gang lining up some of his pupils at a far end of Crotona Park in the Bronx, while the class was taking outdoor recreation. The Negroes were going through the pockets of the pupils.

"I went over to them and told them to leave my kids alone and go away or I'd call the police," Santos said. "One of the group said, 'You're going to call the cops?'" And another took out a knife.

His wife, Vivian, had asked that the prosecution of her husband be dropped. (AP Photofax)

Dulles Says Aid Slash Would Cut Employment

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles contended Monday that foreign aid is a mighty bulwark against hard times at home.

In presenting this argument to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, which gave him a friendly hearing, Dulles said: "To cut these funds would be to cut employment here at home — as well as to endanger our security."

Dulles had ready replies to complaints against giving American aid to Communist Yugoslavia, Red satellite Poland, and neutral India.

He said Yugoslavia is still independent of Moscow, and Poland has a measure of independence. He said India is an influential force and if she were unable to maintain her independence it would be a blow to freedom everywhere.

On the home front, Dulles took note of the current demand for federal spending on more roads, schools, public works projects of various types.

"But we will gain little and lose much if in our drive for them we recklessly tear down the very structure of the free world which makes it possible for us to enjoy in peace and freedom the material blessings we now have," he said.

America needs its free world allies, he said, and must help them stand against the aggressive and predatory ambitions of international communism.

The secretary said that deep cuts in the $3,942,092,500 foreign aid program proposed for the fiscal year beginning July 1 would sabotage the whole effort to keep the free world strong.

Nearness Of Passover Will Bar Eulogies Today For Mike Todd

CHICAGO (AP)—The nearness of Passover, a Jewish joyous period, will bar graveside eulogies Tuesday for Mike Todd, acclaimed during his lifetime as a genius of show business.

The ceremonies will be private and simple. The body of the flamboyant, showman will be laid to rest beside that of his father, Rabbi Chaim Goldbogen, in Waldheim Cemetery in suburban Forest Park.

Todd, 50, and three others were killed in an airplane crash Saturday. Todd was flying East to accept an honor from the Friars Club of New York.

"There will be no eulogies at the graveside," said Rabbi Abraham Joseph Rose of Congregation Knesseth Israel of Elgin, who will officiate at the funeral. "The 14 days before Passover are a joyous period."

AFL-CIO Urges Tax Cut

Drastic Slash Of 6 To 8 Billion Called Urgent

WASHINGTON, March 24 (INS)—The AFL-CIO urgently advocated tonight a tax cut of from six to eight billion dollars to curb the business slumps.

The Executive Committee of the giant labor organization issued a statement declaring that a few months ago, a bill cutting taxes by three to four billions "might well have been a sufficient stimulant to the economy" but even more drastic measures are needed now.

The statement was issued as President Eisenhower put the finishing touches on his anti-recession unemployment compensation plan he will submit to Congress and pressure for a tax cut grew.

The AFL-CIO warned that unemployment "appears to be going higher" and other facts "reveal a continued worsening of the economic picture."

The statement said: "We believe a tax cut of almost double that which may have been sufficient a few months ago must be enacted immediately."

The Executive Committee said any tax reduction legislation should:

Concentrate the bulk of the cut among taxpayers with less than a $5,000 income.

Drastically reduce excise taxes on electrical appliances, automobiles, transportation and other products.

Give small businesses tax relief.

Long Plans Tax Cut Bill

WASHINGTON, March 24 (INS)—A Senate Finance Committee member announced plans today for a bill to grant taxpayers "one month's tax forgiveness" and give the slumping economy a fast-action boost.

Sen. Russell B. Long (D-La.) said he hopes to introduce legislation this week that would keep withholding tax payments in workers' paychecks for the full month following enactment of his bill.

The Louisiana lawmaker said that his proposal—which amounts to a 8½ per cent tax cut—would "put a lot of additional money in circulation immediately."

Under the plan, Long said over Columbia Broadcasting System "Capitol Cloakroom," taxpayers in the upper brackets would claim their tax relief during the first quarter after Congress passed the bill.

Airliner, 24 Aboard, Crashes

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A Braniff airliner bound for Panama with 24 passengers and crew members crashed and burned just after taking off from Miami International Airport Monday night.

There were reports at least three were seriously injured. There was no immediate word on others.

The crash occurred near Miami Springs, a northwestern suburb. The police department said the scene of the accident is fairly isolated and there were no reports of casualties.

The explosion which came with the crash lighted the sky for miles around and was seen as far to the east as Miami Beach.

Fire fighters and sheriff's deputies sped to the area. Firemen called the scene "rough."

Young Brothers Held In Slaying

David Smith, 10, and his brother, Robert, 12, read magazines in the county jail at Woodward, Okla., where they are held in connection with the fatal shooting of Floyd Blair, 49-year-old grocer. County Attorney H. B. King said no charges have been filed yet following Sunday's shooting spree by the two boys. (AP Photofax)

Young Gunmen Get Delinquency Hearing Today

WOODWARD, Okla. (AP)—County Atty. H. B. King, who has to prosecute two young brothers for killing a grocer, said Monday "it's hard to know what to do that will be right."

The boys are Robert and David Smith, aged 12 and 10.

They walked into a small grocery Sunday intent on robbery, then began firing.

Floyd Blair, 49, was shot to death. An employee, Adrian Wilson, 22, was critically wounded but is improving. Ed Kinney, 47, a customer, was nicked.

Juvenile delinquency charges were filed against the boys. County Judge James G. Young will determine whether criminal charges should be filed. The delinquency hearing is set for Tuesday. King said the charge is merely a recital of the facts including the robbery of another store for the guns.

The boys came from a broken home. Officials said they have an 11-year-old sister. The mother works at night in a cafe. The father is an itinerant plumber. The children were left Sunday in the care of their maternal grandparents.

King said the boys left Sunday School, broke into a store and stole four .22 caliber pistols and went to Blair's open air grocery.

"We still don't know why they started shooting," King said. "They walked in to rob it. They were scared and inexperienced and started shooting."

Sheriff Hank White captured Robert in the second floor loft of an old cotton gin six blocks away.

David was found in the basement of the family home, unharmed.

Attorney For UAW Charges Three GOP Probers "Unfair"

WASHINGTON (AP)—Three Republican members of the Senate Judiciary Committee were accused Monday by a union attorney of being unfair in their investigation of the Kohler Co. strike.

Joseph L. Rauh Jr., counsel for the United Auto Workers, named Sens. Curtis of Nebraska, Mundt of South Dakota and Goldwater of Arizona.

Curtis, the only one of the three in the hearing room at the time, flushed and called Rauh's charge untrue. He said the lawyer was trying to create a diversion and make headlines.

"I suppose we'll have to endure this," he added.

Rauh's statement followed testimony by Kohler lawyers that they consider the company has won the four-year-old strike and survived an economic boycott of almost equal length.

Lyman C. Conger, Kohler attorney and labor relations chief, told the committee the firm is willing to settle the strike but won't write a new labor contract with the UAW until the union is shown to represent a majority of the workers.

Kohler makes plumbing fixtures at Kohler, Wis. The UAW struck the plant April 5, 1954, and kept it closed for 54 days. The plant has been operating ever since, however, and company officials have testified it is making a profit.

Rauh attacked the three GOP senators during a rebuttal he made to company testimony that the union's boycott of Kohler products was conducted illegally. He had objected previously to the line they took in questioning witnesses.

It was Lucius P. Chase, Kohler's general counsel, who described the UAW boycott as a failure.

He said the company has lost but that they have been more than offset by new business.

"We believe we have demonstrated that a company need not succumb to union violence and coercion but can successfully take a stand for principles in which it believes," Chase said.

Union officials have conceded the boycott has not been a complete success because it has failed to bring the company to terms.

American Motors Labor Dispute Settled

KENOSHA, Wis. (AP)—Work resumed at the American Motors Corp. plants here and in Milwaukee Monday after settlement of a dispute that erupted Friday when an employee was discharged for insubordination.

The firing was followed by a walkout of other employees at the Kenosha plant. About 4,500 workers were idled here and about an hour later management closed the Milwaukee body plant where 3,000 are employed.

It's Pvt. Presley, U.S. Army, Now

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—America's rock 'n' roll idol held up his right hand today and took the oath that made him Pvt. Presley, Elvis A., serial No. U.S. 53310761.

Presley, 23, goes to Ft. Chaffee, located in northwest Arkansas. There he and other draftees and volunteers sworn in at the same time will have eight weeks of basic infantry training.

The 14 draftees and 7 volunteers left for Chaffee, riding in a chartered bus. Presley was appointed "private in charge."

The nation's celebrated draftee, whose voice hit a rock 'n' roll jackpot of more than 22 million records in less than three years, turned up half an hour early to begin his Army career.

The draft term is for two years. The salary cut is tremendous. As a private, Presley will draw $78 a month.

Last year, Presley's gross income was nearly a million. His manager, Col. Tom Parker of Nashville, estimated the take this year would have been about the same.

Thus, it will cost the government a considerable sum of money to make Presley a soldier. Considerable of his income went to income taxes.

Dare Went Too Far

GREENVILLE, S.C. (AP)—Two naked 14-year-old boys led police on a merry chase around Christ Church Sunday night. Caught, clothed and contrite, one of the lads explained: "I dared him and he dared me. This shows you how far a dare will get you."

Man Sought In Slaying Of Two Women Kills Self

HILLSBORO, Ohio (AP)—Sylvanus Daulton, object of a statewide hunt in the slaying of two Scioto County women, was found shot to death about 12 miles north of here late Monday. Authorities said he committed suicide.

Daulton, 53, former marshal of Parden, Ohio, was sought in connection with the kidnap-slaying of Mrs. Florence Hoffer, 51, and her daughter, Margaret Louise, 18. The bodies were found Sunday near a vacant farmhouse about 15 miles from West Union in Adams County.

A warrant for Daulton's arrest was issued in Portsmouth Saturday on a complaint signed by Mrs. Hoffer's son, Paul, 20. Mrs. Hoffer's daughter, Orville, 12, told authorities Daulton had forced her mother into a car Friday morning after a brief struggle. Margaret Louise then got into Daulton's car willingly, Orville said. Both Mrs. Hoffer and Margaret Louise were shot in the head, authorities said.

Soviet Note Rejects U.S. Arguments

American Officials Say Moscow Wants Propaganda Circus

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union published Tuesday its latest summit conference note, rejecting point by point every argument raised by the United States.

The Soviets dismissed a U.S. suggestion that a top level meeting might be used by Russia to stage a spectacle rather than reach meaningful decisions.

The note repeated previous Soviet proposals for a summit agenda, including prohibition of nuclear weapons, creation of an atom-free zone in Central Europe and an East-West non-aggression pact.

It reiterated Soviet rejection of U.S. proposals to discuss the status of Russia's East European allies and reunification of Germany.

The Soviet note replied to an American note of March 6. It was delivered Monday to U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson. Copies also went to the French and British Embassies.

Gulf Wider Than Ever

First reaction among Western diplomats was that the exchange brought the two sides no closer together and, if anything, widened the gulf between them.

The Kremlin said a foreign ministers' conference empowered to discuss problems of substance — as stipulated by the United States — would only delay a summit conference or block it altogether.

It urged the United States to agree to a summit meeting without further delay, and declared only heads of government have the power to break the current East-West deadlock.

Discussion of the future of its East European allies, the Kremlin said, would be "insulting and inadmissible."

Warning Note

"Those who raise the question . . . are inciting hostilities among peoples and pushing the world toward war," the note warned.

The Kremlin also charged the United States and not the Soviet Union abandoned disarmament talks in the United Nations by rejecting a Soviet proposal that membership in the Disarmament Commission be expanded to include all members of the U.N.

It asserted the United States and not the Soviet Union was trying to exercise veto power on a program for a summit conference by refusing to discuss a Soviet-sponsored agenda.

Washington Officials Scoff At Accusation

WASHINGTON (AP)—Officials said Monday night that Russia's newest diplomatic note shows the Kremlin wants to turn a summit conference into a "propaganda circus" instead of seeking meaningful agreements.

This was their initial reaction after studying a partial text of the message Radio Moscow broadcast Monday.

They scoffed at the Soviet accusation the United States was "actually trying to take the entire problem of the summit conference back to the starting point."

As far as the American government is concerned, they said, the conditions for a summit meeting never have left the starting point. They said the United States has insisted and will continue to insist that any heads-of-government meeting must be preceded by lower level negotiations on specific problems which would show whether a top level meeting of world leaders would be worthwhile.

These officials said it was "laughable" that the Soviet note professed surprise the United States sees the prospect that an unprepared conference would be a "kind of theatrical performance." (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

Racket Probers Say Top Union Officials Have Stolen Millions

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Rackets Committee reported Monday its hearings have uncovered "much that is shameful and unsavory about certain elements in both labor and management."

The eight-man group said its year-long hearings so far have showed "incredibly loose" handling and misuse of union funds as well as dictatorship and terrorism over union members.

It said employers have used middlemen to dodge their legal responsibilities and avoid union relations and have bribed union leaders to obtain "sweetheart" contracts, containing few if any benefits for the workers.

It found prosecutors lax in enforcing the laws and said other attorneys in the labor-management field have engaged in "unethical practices debasing to the standards of their profession."

AFL-CIO President George Meany called the committee report a "disgraceful example of the use of sensationalism in an attempt to smear the trade union movement." Meany's statement said the report exceeded evidence produced in hearings.

The committee headed by Sen. McClellan (D-Ark.) said an investigation of only five unions showed some 10 million dollars in union funds have been either stolen, embezzled or misused in 15 years by top union officers.

It said this averaged about $5 for each member of the five unions — the Teamsters, Bakery Workers, United Textile Workers, Operating Engineers and Allied Industrial Workers.

The committee said its conclusions were not to be taken as a wholesale indictment of labor unions and employers, most of whom it termed undoubtedly honest. But it said others should view the findings as a danger signal.

The report recommended that Congress quickly legislate safeguards over union funds and internal procedures, the latter step to insure members of a voice in running their organizations. It recommended legislation, too, to prevent employer interference in union organizing and contract negotiation.

Caltex Again Shipping Oil From Sumatra

SINGAPORE (AP)—Caltex, the American oil company, resumed operations in Central Sumatra Monday, apparently satisfied the Indonesian government was in firm control there.

The company shut down operations two weeks ago because of Indonesia's civil war. Government paratroopers have since reoccupied Pakanbaru, the oil company's headquarters and its two coastal shipping terminals at Pakning and Dumai.

The first of Caltex' 13 river tankers on the Siak River took on oil cargoes. Company installations were reported undamaged.

Besides grabbing Caltex from rebel hands, the Jakarta government installed occupied the oil fields and installations of another American company, Stanvac, at Lirik and Rengat on Saturday. The field is about 125 miles southeast of Pakanbaru.

The two steps apparently guaranteed the government a continuing flow of oil and royalties to bolster its finances.

The radio at Bukittinggi, the rebel hideaway capital, said, however, that rebel shore batteries drove off a Jakarta warship at Tambilahan, at the mouth of the Inderagiri River, 45 miles east of Rengat.

4th District GOP Aspirant Fights Ineligibility Ruling

BALTIMORE (AP)—State officials Monday declared Louis W. Collier ineligible to run for Republican nomination to Maryland's Fourth Congressional District seat. He said he would challenge them in court.

James P. Bröck Jr., assistant to the secretary of state, said in Annapolis that Collier's certificate had been nullified on advice of the attorney general.

He said the attorney general had advised him that a candidate for Congress must reside in the congressional district where he runs. Collier, a 33-year-old credit counselor, lives in Pikesville, Baltimore County. The Fourth District lies wholly within Baltimore City.

Brock said the attorney general cited residency requirements in Maryland's elections as revised by the 1957 Legislature. The U. S. Constitution specifies only that a congressional candidate must be at least 25, have been a citizen at least seven years, and reside in the state where he seeks office.

"It isn't going to be that easy," said Collier after learning of the opinion handed down by the attorney general.

"We weighed this thing before we went into the race, and we feel that the law is unconstitutional. I feel that I've got to get a lawyer right away and take it to court."

Collier said he expects to take legal action this week.

Young Man Gets Death Penalty In Slaying Case

BALTIMORE (AP)—Two judges Monday sentenced 22-year-old Charles W. Stansbury to be executed in the gas chamber for the robbery-murder of a bartender.

Two co-defendants, James D. Fitzgerald and Marvin Rich, are still to be tried.

Ralph Sliger was shot to death last January 16 at the Coronet Tavern.

Judges Michael J. Manley and Joseph L. Carter convicted Stansbury of first degree murder after turning down a defense plea for life imprisonment.

The judges announced their decision after deliberating 20 minutes.

On the witness stand Monday, Stansbury repudiated a statement he gave police, saying the language was "mostly their words."

His mother, Mrs. Edna Stansbury, screamed and collapsed when the death penalty was announced. Stansbury, his hands clasped behind him, winced and straightened a little as sentence was pronounced.

The judges said that since the shooting occurred during a holdup no finding of premeditation was necessary to return a first degree conviction.

The judges also noted that Dr. Francis S. Guttmacher, court psychiatrist, had found Stansbury a responsible agent without psychosis. His mother had described him as a "pretty mixed up person."

Stansbury insisted he had actually left the tavern and the bartender was about to lock the door when he suddenly decided on the robbery and pulled a pistol. He contended the gun went off accidentally when the bartender kicked him.

Dr. Reddick Ordered To Stand Trial Monday

BALTIMORE (AP)—Judge Anselm Sodaro directed Dr. Robert H. Reddick to stand trial Monday on charges of alleged forgery of medical credentials.

The judge rejected a special motion to dismiss the charges upon which he had heard arguments March 7.

The forgery trial, at a date to be set, will be another in a stream of court cases involving Dr. Reddick for his activities in issuing medical licenses in the name of the Homeopathic Society of Maryland.

Body Of Missing Woman Is Found In Trunk Of Car

HAGERSTOWN (AP)—Marshall McFillin of Martinsburg, W. Va., was inspecting a used car in nearby Boonsboro Monday when he opened the trunk and found a woman's frozen body.

State Trooper Robert Basore said the victim, Mrs. Anna M. Harper, 51, of Hagerstown, had been missing from her home since March 8. Her husband had notified police and they even dragged a creek in their search for her.

Dr. Samuel R. Wells, Washington County medical examiner, attributed death to exposure. He said the body was still frozen and the woman apparently died only two or three days after her disappearance.

Trooper Basore said the woman apparently had climbed into the trunk to keep warm. She was heavily bundled in coats and her shoes had been removed. There were several cigarette butts in the trunk.

Beall Urges VA Keep Hagerstown Office

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Veterans Administration (VA) was urged Monday by Sen. Beall (R-Md.) to keep its Hagerstown, Md., office open.

Beall based his request on the prospects of increased veterans' activities because of passage of a new housing bill with provisions for help to veterans.

The VA had announced that the Hagerstown office would be discontinued on March 31 and that veterans of the area would be served by the Martinsburg, W. Va., office.

ance." This is precisely what the Soviets are seeking to achieve, they said, with their demand that lower level talks be limited only to drawing up an agenda for the heads of governments who would do the actual negotiating.

The State Department declined officially to comment on the Soviet note until the full text has been received from the American Embassy in Moscow. Officials were obviously annoyed, however, that Radio Moscow began broadcasting the note to the world before it had been received by the department.

Hundreds Still Lack Electricity

BALTIMORE (AP)—Some more snow will fall on Western Maryland Monday night, the Weather Bureau predicted. "But don't push the panic button," it advised.

The snow will be mixed with rain from Baltimore to Cumberland, according to the weather prophets. They said the rain will amount to about an inch.

It was still a bleak night for about 2,500 homes. They remained without electricity for heating and lighting since last Wednesday's blizzard.

The Baltimore Gas & Electric Co. reported it restored power to 7,500 more during Monday. There had been 150,000 left powerless last week.

In some isolated cases, it will be the middle of this week before their lines are repaired. In addition, some Harford County residents face temporary cutoffs until a main line of 110,000 volts is permanently fixed.

For those still lacking heat, Sunday night was the worst. Temperatures dropped into the 20's. Relief came with the daylight and it soon "warmed up" to the 40's.

Meanwhile, a politician's proposal to require all utility lines be put underground drew a cold shoulder.

"It isn't feasible in the economic sense," said J. Theodore Wolfe, president of the electric utility.

W. G. Morrel, vice president of the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co., said it would cost 100 million dollars. "This tremendous expense would naturally result in higher rates to our customers," he added.

Dr. Laura Harney To Talk At Dinner Club Meeting

Dr. Laura B. Harney, freshman years in occupied Germany as an English instructor at Frostburg State Teachers College, will address the Cumberland National Dinner Club Thursday at 7 p. m. at a special dinner meeting at Central YMCA.

Dr. Harney, member of the local club's board of directors, will be the first local speaker to address the Cumberland group. Her topic will be "Indonesia."

A native of New York State, Dr. Harney has been an English instructor at the Frostburg college since 1953. Most of her work, however, has been in the field of mathematics and social studies and she is an avid student of world affairs.

City Will Pay Share For Land In Ridgeley

The Mayor and Council has ordered payment of its share in the acquisition of Ridgeley land owned by the Mineral County Board of Education for the flood control project.

The action was taken yesterday with the understanding that interest payments would stop with passage of the order and that the order would not interfere in any way with the federal government's proposal to carry the matter to the Supreme Court.

A Court of Appeals decision ruled against the government in the award of $97,500 for the portion of the Ridgeley High School athletic field set by a District Court jury in Martinsburg.

The city's share is $33,017.90 which includes $3,537.63 interest.

City Attorney Thomas B. Finan pointed out when original agreement was made the federal government and city were to share on a 50-50 basis. But since conclusion of the case, the government had agreed to pay two-thirds and the city one-third. The most ever offered for the property prior to the court action was $8,500 but just before the trial got under way, the government offered $13,000 which was also rejected. Finan said.

He said the government is attempting to get the case before the Supreme Court.

Street Commissioner William H. Buchholz in commenting on the jury award said the only difference between the people involved and Jesse James was that "Jesse James had a horse."

Finance Commissioner John J. Long said the case was "over-balanced and the decision out in left field."

Mayor Roy W. Eves commented that a West Virginia jury made the decision and didn't know about Ridgeley or the flood control project.

The legislators also asked why the Road Commission has done nothing toward selling 10 million dollars worth of road bonds, for which it currently has authority under a revolving issue.

White replied that the commission has done something: it asked Gov. Underwood last week for authority to sell five million dollars worth. A date has not yet been set for the sale. The full 10 million dollars worth was included in White's estimate of revenues for 1958.

Appointment of the subcommittee grew out of a meeting Monday of the Legislature's two-in-one interim study group, the Joint Committee on Government and Finance and the Commission on Interstate Cooperation.

Senate President Ralph J. Bean (D-Hardy), who said "I am not satisfied with what's being done in highway building," first proposed the appointment of the subcommittee. His proposal was put in the form of a motion by House Majority Leader T. E. Myles (D-Fayette).

Five Injured In New Creek Drive Crash

Five persons were hospitalized with injuries sustained in a one-car crash Sunday night on New Creek Drive near Keyser.

Richard R. Hannas, 21, of Romney, driver of the car; Delbert J. McGee, 23, Romney, and Frederick Sutherland, 17, of Keyser, were admitted to Memorial Hospital here.

Two other passengers in the auto, Miss Mary Wolford, 18, and Julian Corbin, 14, Romney, were admitted to Potomac Valley Hospital in Keyser. Miss Wolford, who suffered injuries to both legs, arms and a shoulder, is reported in "fair" condition, and the Corbin youth, who complained of back injuries, is in "good" condition.

The local hospital listed Hannas in "good" condition. He sustained a severe laceration of his scalp and underwent surgery yesterday. Sutherland suffered hip and kidney injuries, and McGee had pain in his right shoulder. They are in "good" condition.

West Virginia State Trooper Robert Noechel said Hannas was driving toward Keyser and lost control on a curve. The car went up over a high shoulder on the side of the road, knocked over a tree and stopped near the edge of the creek.

The car was demolished. Volunteer firemen from Keyser were called to the wreck scene about midnight.

School Principals Meet At Accident

ACCIDENT — Garrett County school principals and Board of Education staff, met at Northern High School yesterday. Following a dinner served by the cafeteria staff of the school, the group convened for the purpose of studying the social studies (history, civics, geography) program in the schools.

Two years ago at a summer workshop held in the Accident school a group of county teachers and supervisors developed a guide for a 12-year social studies program in the schools of the county. An evaluation of this program came in for discussion at last night's conference.

Standard tests in American History for grades 5-8-11 are also being planned during the month of May.

The April meeting of principals will be held at the Dennett Road School and the May meeting will be held at Kitzmiller.

End Of Rain Predicted Today

HUNTINGTON — West Virginia's cold, rainy weather is expected to end Tuesday, the Weather Bureau promised in its extended forecast Monday.

Fair and warmer is the forecast through Saturday, but the rain Monday and Tuesday, following a pretty weekend, promised to be fairly heavy — about an inch, the bureau said.

Temperatures on the average five to eight degrees below normal were predicted for the week.

4th Polio Shot To Be Withheld

CHARLESTON — State Health Director N. H. Dyer dispatched a letter Monday to local level health agencies outlining a policy to withhold polio vaccine for fourth injections pending a possible outbreak of the disease.

Dr. Dyer wrote that the U. S. Public Health Service reported about 40 million doses of polio vaccine are currently available. His letter said 30 million doses were still in the hands of the vaccine manufacturers and the balance has been placed with physicians, drug stores and local health departments, Dyer wrote.

"Since our public agency vaccine in West Virginia is becoming more limited, it will be the policy of the State Department of Health not to use public agency vaccine for any fourth injections unless there should be local outbreaks of the disease, and then only when approval is given by the State Department of Health."

The state director quoted the U. S. Public Health Service that the high effectiveness of the present three-dose schedule has caused a policy of eliminating fourth injections of the vaccine at the present time.

Romney Girl Finalist In Press Event

KEYSER — Miss Wilma Shields of Romney, Potomac State College entry in this year's Pittsburgh Press "Campus Cover Girl" contest, was notified by John Patterson, editor of the Roto magazine section of the Press, that she has been selected as one of the six finalists.

This year the contest is being conducted in a different manner. The selection of first, second and third places was made from photographs exclusively. All six young women met with the judges at a luncheon at the Press Club in the Sherwyn Hotel, Pittsburgh, Saturday.

The judges will make their final selections of the winner whose photo will appear in the Roto magazine Sunday, September 27. In addition, interior pages of the magazine will carry a pictorial biography of the winner. The other five young women will have their pictures in color in the same edition as members of her "court."

Keyser Club Cites Need For Hospital Care

New Facility Is Considered

KEYSER — The Keyser Kiwanis Club has taken steps to improve medical care for residents of Mineral County, and to establish "open" facilities at Potomac Valley Hospital.

The board of directors of the organization held a special meeting last week, with representatives of the municipal government and the medical profession in attendance, as well as members of the business and public affairs committee of the Kiwanis Club.

The meeting was called to discuss ways to improve medical care for residents of the area. It was stressed that no marked improvement could be hoped for until hospital facilities are provided that are open to qualified surgeons or doctors who might be interested in locating in the area.

The word "open" was used to mean a hospital that is not controlled at the discretion of one individual or by a closely-held corporation.

It was pointed out that a number of capable medical men had decided not to locate in Keyser when the limitations in effect at Potomac Valley Hospital were discovered.

A special committee was appointed to investigate the possibility of securing either a community or county hospital at Keyser, and it was voted to contact all civic, fraternal and service organizations in the area so that they could send representatives to a general meeting in the near future when additional plans will be outlined.

The fact that new hospitals have been constructed or are being built at Romney and Petersburg was pointed out, and it was emphasized that these "open" hospitals have attracted new medical personnel to the area.

The group also said that should there be a transfer in the ownership or management of Potomac Valley Hospital, the change would be most desirable if the institution became an "open" hospital.

Board Approves Exemptions

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners has approved 150 tax exemptions for persons who are over 65 years of age and have income of less than $100 per month.

A number of applications for the tax exemptions, which are only on homes lived in by the applicants, have been rejected because their income was over the limit. Some persons withdrew their requests.

Those persons who have been certified as eligible will not be required to pay county taxes on their property. The state and city property taxes will not be exempted.

The commissioners will begin the task of preparing the budget this afternoon. Commissioners William A. Wilson and James Orr said that many of the budget requests will be pruned wherever possible so that the tax rate can be kept in line with the current rate.

Commissioner Orr said the county will have a payment and interest on school bonds which come due after the start of the fiscal year July 1. These bonds were obtained through the state loan program.

SRC Seeks New Bids On Area Road

The State Roads Commission has decided to ask for new bids on a Garrett County road project on Routes 219 and 135, G. Bates Chaires, district engineer, said.

Bids will be received on the 5.789-mile project April 15 at noon by the SRC in Baltimore.

The project includes grading, drainage and surfacing of Route 219 from Gortner northwesterly to Oakland, a distance of 4.036 miles, and Route 135 from Mountain Lake Park westerly to Oakland, 1.753 miles.

Last month, the SRC opened bids on this project and Burkholder and Burkholder, Washington, was low with $1,289,269.

Other bidders were George F. Hazelwood Company, second with $1,295,325 and T. Edgie Russell, Frederick, $1,457,289.

Chaires said some errors or discrepancies were found by SRC engineers in going over the apparent low bidder's figuring.

Also, information on the contract furnished Burkholder and Burkholder, through an error, was not complete and contained some discrepancies.

After some discussion, he added, the roads commission decided to re-bid the job instead of awarding it to the second low bidder.

A job tying in with the project is the overhead bridge across the B&O Railroad and Little Youghiogheny River on Route 219 at Weber, two miles south of Oakland. The David Goldberg and Son Company of Uniontown was the low bidder with $157,309.

City Dog Law Now On Par With County

The Mayor and Council re-enacted a section of an ordinance yesterday concerning control of stray and nuisance dogs within the city limits and bringing city regulations on a par with those recently enacted by Allegany County.

Actually, the revised section is the same that has been on city books for years. The only change permits the dog warden to bear firearms for protection of himself and public.

It gives the warden complete control over dogs running at large within the city including notification to owners if a licensed dog is picked up. (The county law does not allow picking up of licensed dogs unless they are a nuisance or destroying property).

Where dogs cause disturbances or create a nuisance by barking and howling and similar offenses, the owner would be liable for payment of $3 a day fee for each day the offense is allowed to continue.

time if the offense is proved before a police justice.

It provides penalties of fines from $10 to $25 or from 10 to 30 days in jail for any one obstructing the dog warden; fines of $1 to $25 for dogs allowed to run at large.

Council met with Merwin Hast, one of the two county dog wardens, preceding the session to discuss the city ordinance.

It was emphasized council wanted to be sure that owners of dogs were notified when an animal was picked up.

Commissioner of Police and Fire William V. Keegan was insistent on this point. He said it was "not a matter of cost, but what it means to a kid" to have his pet picked up.

Two Local Charities Get $10,000 From Lions Club

The Cumberland Lions Club has approved contributions totaling $10,000 to two organizations, the presentation having been made at a recent program at Central YMCA.

The contributions were in the amount of $8,800 to the County United Fund, and $1,200 to the Salvation Army. The CUF donation will be used for the benefit of the affiliated agencies, while the Salvation Army contribution was earmarked for the purchase of equipment in its woodworking shop for underprivileged children.

The woodworking equipment will be purchased under the supervision of Michael Beerman.

The two contributions bring to more than $19,000 the amount the Lions Club has raised for charitable purposes in the Cumberland area during 1957-58.

The entire amount has been realized from the sports car races sponsored annually by the Lions Club. The 1958 races will be held May 16-18 at the municipal airport.

Old Equity Suit Presented Over Right Of Way

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners has received an inquiry about rights of way on the Fir Tree Lane Road, which runs off Winchester Road in the Cresaptown area.

Road complaints are nothing new to the commissioners, but in this case the two complainants had with them a copy of an equity suit which was docketed back in 1883 over right of ways.

Junior O. Bishop and Mrs. Mary McKenzie appeared before the board for information on the right of ways. After discussing the matter for some time, the board instructed Gorman E. Getty, board attorney, to check the records in the old case.

Getty reported back that there was some litigation concerning right of ways after several properties were left to heirs of the original owner.

The county board has no jurisdiction in the situation and it would probably take another equity suit to unscramble the matter, the board informed the complainants.

Pulling At The Eagle's Feathers

Canadian campaigners, preparing for the parliamentary elections of March 31, are reflecting a wave of nationalism in that country. Much of the talk is denunciatory of United States policy.

John Diefenbaker, who led his Tory party to victory over the Liberals last June and became prime minister, lacked an absolute majority in Parliament. At the time he took a stiff attitude toward the U. S. Now he appraises Canadian sentiment as such that a sweeping victory may be gained by noisier criticism of Uncle Sam.

The Canadian mood is fed by proposals to erect higher barriers against importation of U. S. goods into Canada. Canadian politicians are demanding that U. S. corporations operating subsidiaries in Canada admit Canadians as part owners. There is sentiment for compelling U. S. concerns exploiting Canada's natural resources to process these resources in Canada.

The Canadian spellbinders claim that Canada has cooperated fully with the U. S. on continental defense, such as the Distant Early Warning radar and air force line. They charge that the U. S. has done much less than it could have to help strengthen Canada's economy.

Another grievance is the aggressive U. S. export of wheat abroad, sometimes to countries Canada claims as its own market. Diefenbaker has proposed several retaliatory measures, none of which has been put into effect. Lester Pearson, Liberal party leader, goes part way with the Tory anti-U. S. campaign but sounds warnings.

The two nations must cooperate on defense. And Ottawa should quit talking divorce from the U. S. economy, a development that would hurt Canada worse than this country.

But to ask the Tory politicians to quit yammering is unrealistic. They think they have a winning issue to exploit.

The Means To The End

Ruth Harris, Director of Education, of the Board of Education, St. Louis, writes me a long and informative letter that is of real value in any appraisal of the ideas of the better-trained educators of this country.

It is for this reason that I choose to share with you a paragraph from her letter which I think states the case for many educators:

"... This phrase (We teach the child, not the subject...) means that the teacher is supposed first to know and understand the children whom she is teaching. She is instructed to learn of their homes, neighborhoods, and community backgrounds. She is supposed to use many different techniques in order to discover the nature of the needs of her class. After analyzing the basic needs she is called upon to use subject-matter as a means to an end, the end being the type of Democratic citizen which we desire for our society. From this point of view it is true that we teach the child, and the subject-matter becomes subservient to this end..."

What is the type of Democratic citizen which we desire for our society?

First of all, who is the "we?" Is it the Republican Party, the C. I. O., the Roman Catholic Church, the Democratic Party, the Ku Klux Klan, the Council for Judaism, Jehova's Witnesses? Who is we?

This is a very important question to ask, for we are not a monolithic society. This is a very mixed society of numerous religious sects, of varieties of racial and nationality groupings, of different political parties. Is the school to twist history, as some New Deal historians have done, or is it to be revisionistic, like Dr. Harry Elmer Barnes? Is the school to recognize that our institutions are based on the Judaic-Christian civilization and therefore must provide Bible teaching from the earliest grades or is it to be secularistic and reject the Bible but to teach the children Darwin, Huxley, Marx, Engels, Lenin as the basic leaders of our thinking?

The moment the student goes to school for reasons other than to be brought in contact with the rudiments of intellectual disciplines, is he to be propagandized in a particular direction to adjust himself to be a particular kind of citizen? Then we must call for a series of definitions which have never been defined in the United States.

For instance, the phrase, "Democratic citizen" means what? Frankly, I cannot define that phrase. To me, it means nothing. In the United States, a citizen is defined by the Constitution as follows:

"All persons born or naturalized in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States and of the State wherein they reside..."

"The United States shall guarantee to every State in this Union a Republican Form of Government..."

It does not guarantee any other form of government. But words can be twistlers and one needs not be too tight about semantics. What most Americans loosely mean by a Democracy is a government chosen by the people at an election and not one that is captured by an individual or a party or an oligarchy.

But what kind of a citizen must a person be in such a government? If he is to be a "Democratic citizen," is he to be taught arithmetic, spelling, writing? Is he to memorize poetry? Is he to study Latin, French, German or Spanish? Or, is there something else he might have to be taught?

For instance, in the New York Legislature a bill has been introduced that such a person should be exposed to the Ten Commandments, but there are those who say that such exposure is strictly unconstitutional. Is then this "Democratic citizen" to be taught American history, about the Pilgrim Fathers and Pocahontas and George Washington and Abraham Lincoln, or is this person only to hear about witch-hunters in Salem, Massachusetts and the United States Senate?

The times grow perilous and the future of our country depends upon educated men. Shall we be forced to import such men from Europe or shall we educate our own children by standards which have proved themselves to be correct since Plato conversed with Socrates?

Ike Won't Be Rushed Into Recession Remedies

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON

For the first time since the end of the second World War, the American consumer has quite sharply cut his purchases of goods and services.

Incredible as it may seem, the dollar volume of American consumer buying continuously increased, with only minor fluctuations in the rate, for a period of almost exactly twelve years. Even the previous mild recessions did not really halt the voracious advance. They merely levelled out the upward curve for awhile.

This is the remarkable background against which to judge as yet unpublished government figures which are creating some of a stir among the Eisenhower administration's economic policy makers. In brief, the rate of American consumer expenditure reached an all time high of $283.6 billion per annum during the third quarter of last year.

In the last quarter of 1937, however, the rate of consumer spending showed the first unprecedented positive downturn of $1.2 billion. It is further estimated that the drop has continued and even accelerated in the first quarter of 1958. The consumer spending rate has probably gone down by another $2 billion during these three months.

With the annual rate of spending now running at about $280 billion, the outlays for American consumers' comfort, nourishment and pleasure are still far more than double the total income of the Soviet Union, the next most productive nation in the world. Furthermore, American purchases of soft goods have not decreased. Virtually the whole drop in the spending-rate is accounted for by contracting purchases of such consumers' durable goods as automobiles. But the figures are still causing long faces among the policy makers, because this is classed as a durable goods depression, and because of the further drop in durable goods spending in the first quarter of the present year.

Then consumer purchasing figures are only one part of a bale of decidedly depressing statistics on the recession-depression that are now being studied at the highest Administration level, in the White House itself.

Other items in the bale concern what are called the "real spendable earnings" of employed factory workers. In addition to the sharply rising industrial unemployment, there has been a sharp reduction in the working hours of the men and women who still have jobs. According to a Labor Department estimate, average time on the job in the nation's factories has now gone down from forty-one hours a week (which meant one hour of overtime pay in many factories) to thirty-eight hours a week.

The resulting cut in weekly pay has cancelled out the whole continuous rise in factory workers' "real spendable earnings" that took place in the last three years. After adjustments for changes in the postwar price index and for taxes, the estimated rate of "real spendable earnings" passed $65 a week in 1957. But it has now dropped by nearly 8 per cent, to a few cents more than $59 a week—which was the rate at the end of 1954.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

We have always claimed that democracy is the privilege of striking a match on a no smoking sign.

That's why the Democrats can rap a tattoo on the White House like it had a tight pigskin roof.

But their efforts to act bi-partisan have no more effect than cream on hay. Why don't they chuck Washington and go to the Coast like the Giants and the Bums?

Course the panic petition signed by the eleven governors was pouring oil on the troubled grease spots.

Averell Harriman was apparently the zing-leader on the retaliatory errand of mercy. The other ten went along for the ride.

It was sure opening up an umbrella in the knife wound. You're correct as a new watch. It was about unemployment.

There's more unemployment in politics than in any other racket. When two birds run for the same nest who gets the eggs?

If there are a million federal jobs there must be that many out of work. It follows the old Irish theory that where there's two—there's one.

Vegetarians Don't Live Longer - Or Do They?

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Do vegetarians live longer than meat eaters? A large American clinic hoped to answer this question after an exhaustive study of the life lines of many vegetarians. Their idea stems from the current theory that animal fats increase the cholesterol content of the blood, thereby contributing to hardening of the arteries. This does not occur when vegetable oils are added to the diet, suggesting that they nullify the adverse effects of animal fats.

Investigating longevity is not as simple as it sounds. It is not easy to find a group with similar backgrounds and habits who differ only in the consumption of meat. Heredity enters the picture because those with family history of early death due to stroke or heart attacks have a handicap that cannot be corrected by omitting certain foods. The vegetarian who drinks a pint of whisky a day cannot be compared with the meat eater who is a teetotaler.

Individuals who burn the candle at both ends may die early for reasons unrelated to their nutritional status. Examples of long-lived persons can be found among both meat eaters and vegetarians, showing that neither practice leads to an early grave.

It may be difficult to find a number of men and women who have avoided meat, eggs, and dairy products all their lives. Even George Bernard Shaw, the champion of vegetarianism, was said to have taken pills containing animal liver.

What would you do if you were 30 years old and the results of the study mentioned showed that vegetarians lived an average of one year longer? Would you stop eating meat and dairy products? I wouldn't. I need better reasons for eliminating enjoyable foods from my diet. Life is so full of restrictions, why eschew simple pleasures?

I doubt if vegetarianism is a factor in raising life expectancy, which recently jumped to 73 years in women and 67 in men. This speaks well for our present eating habits. Why go off the deep end and resort to dietary excesses either way? Moderation and variety are the keystones to good nutritional habits.

OVARIAN TUMOR

Mrs. T. writes: I had a tumor removed from an ovary and the surgeon said it contained hair and bits of jaw bone. How did these things get there?

REPLY

I assume you refer to a dermoid cyst or teratoma. The cause is not known but it is believed these lesions originate with unfertilized sex cells. The ovary normally contains large numbers of germ cells capable of producing another human body if fertilized by the male element. Now and then something makes one of these germ cells start reproducing while still in the ovary.

A very, very ancient jalopy wheezed up to the toll gate of a new super-highway. "Eighty cents," said the attendant. "Sold!" cried the driver.

Sam Rayburn Works For Pension For Former President Truman

By Drew Pearson

Soothing Music For GOP

Seven Army band musicians are burnt up over having to supply soft string music for three hours for a Republican reception at Fort McNair—despite Army rules to the contrary. Members of Congress can reserve the officers clubs at Fort McNair and Fort Myer and have music supplied by the Army band, but regulations forbid using this privilege for commercial or political purposes.

Hoover Doesn't Need It

Rep. Hugh Gross (R., Iowa) remained unconvinced. "No man who's been President of the United States ought to have any trouble making a living," Gross insisted. "All this means is that some more money will come out of the U. S. Treasury."

Rayburn reminded Gross that all Truman owned upon retirement was his home, and that even FDR had no independent means until his mother died. Rep. August Johansen (R-Mich.) agreed with Gross. So did Reps. Ed Robeson (D-Va.) and Jim Davis (D-Ga.).

"I suggest that we raise the amount of the pension to $37,500," said Robeson sarcastically. Rayburn, however, argued strongly for the ex-Presidents. He pointed out that the legislation had been passed by the Senate a year ago and had lain mouldering in the House for two years.

"It's the dignity of the office of President that's involved here," said Mr. Sam. "Our big corporations all provide for their presidents, and employees, and the U. S. Government is the biggest corporation of all. We shouldn't force our ex-Presidents to go out and do all kind of mean things in order to make a living. We have to protect the dignity of the office."

McCormack reminded Gross that Herbert Hoover would also be eligible, though actually he doesn't need it. Hoover is a millionaire. President Eisenhower made around $500,000 by a special tax ruling on his book. "It's a matter of simple justice," said McCormack.

In the end the committee agreed to discuss the matter again on March 27. And in view of the urging by Rayburn and Martin, it looked as if the legislation would finally reach the House floor for a vote.

Bridges made a partisan speech in which he advised New Hampshire Republicans how to deal with critics of the Eisenhower recession. "Tell them the only way the Democrats know to cure a recession is through war," he recommended. He also told a story about three sailors who rescued Harry Truman after he fell off his yacht. Asked by Truman what they wanted as rewards, the first sailor said a West Point appointment, the second sailor said an Annapolis appointment, and the third sailor said a funeral.

"Why do you want a funeral?" Truman asked the third sailor. "Because that's what I'll need after I get home," the third sailor told the man he had saved.

Note — Congressman Charlie Porter, the Oregon Democrat, is writing Bridges, asking him to pay the seven musicians their usual rate of $3 an hour, or a total of $63, or else pay them the union rate for supplying music at a private political party.

Walter Reuther

By Bob Considine

WASHINGTON (INS) — WASHINGTON pause for station identification, and a nod to my kids (who turned to their mother and said "who is that?") I recently flew from Detroit to Philadelphia to New York to Washington.

I was still sorting out the notes I had taken a few hours earlier in an interview with Walter Reuther in Detroit, as I registered at The Statler in Washington. Then there was an anxious awareness that the guy standing in line behind me, waiting to sign in, was whammying the back of my neck. You know the feeling. Well, it was Walter Reuther, the tireless zealot who heads the United Auto Workers.

"I'm here for a kids' TV show," he said. "I forget which network. But I'll make it." He'd also make the witness chair of the McClellan committee on The Hill in the eternal case of UAW vs. Kohler, and face one of the few men in public or business life now eager to belt him around in public — Arizona's Sen. Barry Goldwater. Nobody in Detroit wants to. The attitude there is "that fellow's demands are outrageous, greedy, senseless and probably socialist. But don't quote me by name."

Reuther goes to the other extreme. He is quoted so often and at such length that he is trying his case before the public before he presents it to the auto companies, manufacturers complain. There's no question that he enjoys giving interviews at such times as these. But one feels that the chief reason the auto people don't avail themselves of the same free space is fear of this man.

Where's their bete noir headed? He laughs at interviewers who ask him about his political ambitions. So the manufacturing people told me what they thought were the aims of the man who controls most of the manpower of an industry which affects one out of every seven workers in an American labor pool of more than 60,000,000.

"Walter doesn't want to be President," a man who doesn't dislike him told us, and this was the general view. "All he wants is veto power over the next Democratic Presidential nominee."

My pal Gen. Joe Batley (ret.), president of the National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Association, looked out the window of his national offices here in Washington the other day and asked, "What recession?" The news hadn't reached the paint industry and probably won't.

The American is a peculiar duck. When he's laid off, one of the first things he does is put a little paint about the neglected parts of the house or apartment. Still funnier, the first thing he does when he goes back to work, apparently, is buy some more paint.

"Sales in the paint and chemical coatings industry set a new record of $1,600,000,000 last year," Joe tells us. "Trade sales in January of this year were the third highest January on record, up over January of a year ago. I've been around the country the past three months, criss-crossing the land with B. M. Belcher, our chairman. We came up with the same figures. Paint is the last to feel a business decline and the first to recover. In those few sections of the country where they're experiencing strikes or seasonal layoffs, our business is even better than elsewhere. Great business."

Cheeriest note we've printed in weeks.

In one of the last interviews he gave, Mike Todd said, "I'm a lucky bum."

He was, too. Lucky and shrewd, sharp, hardworking, generous, tight, a mugg, a maestro, a man of infinite dignity and a public brawler, keen, cultured, crude, older than Midas, younger than springtime, a wail who sat at the knee of Gaylor Ravenal, a power who shook the entrenched wattles of Hollywood and Broadway when he didn't have a dime, an adventurer, a man who created many jobs, a hated and hated man whose magnificent "Around the World in 80 Days" ended hate in him and for him, poet, peasant, virtuoso. Yes, genius.

And, in his own words, a lucky bum. Lucky enough to retire undefeated.

Andrews Wins 1-Punch Bout

Stops Gonzalez In First Round

NEW YORK (AP)—Eddie Andrews let go a bolt of right-handed lightning and stopped Tex Gonzalez of East Orange, N. J., in 1:41 of the first round of a scheduled 10-round feature at St. Nicholas Arena Monday night.

It was a quick and strictly one-punch bout.

For a minute and a half the two sparred around the ring, suddenly Andrews let go.

He caught Gonzalez flush on the chin with a looping right, and that was the end. No fuss, no muss.

Redlegs Beat Phillies, 4-3

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Bunching four of their nine hits in the sixth inning Monday, the Cincinnati Redlegs tallied three times to edge a makeshift collection of Phillies, 4-3, in an exhibition baseball game.

The victory snapped a two-game losing streak for the Cincinnatians.

A trio of rookies, Bob Kelly, Charley Rabe and Orlando Pena, handled the hurling chores for Birdie Tebbetts' crew. They limited the Phils to nine hits, including homers by Rookies Pancho Herrera and Chuck Essegian. The latter, a former football star, accounted for three of the Phillies' hits.

Second line hurlers also worked for the Phils. Gene Snyder and Tommy Qualters worked the first seven rounds, with the latter being charged with the defeat. Veteran Jim Hearn finished.

The Reds parlayed two hits and a pair of passes for their first run in the fourth. Rabe singled home two runs in the sixth and Buddy Gilbert binged home what proved to be the payoff marker in the same inning.

Basilio To Defeat Title Against Robinson Tonight

Champ Made 8-5 Favorite In Rematch

Sugar Seeks 160 Pound Crown 5th Time At Chicago

By JERRY LISK

CHICAGO (AP)—A current 8-5 choice, Carmen Basilio Tuesday night makes the first defense of his world middleweight title in a rematch with amazing Sugar Ray Robinson, who seeks that crown for the fifth time.

The 15-round match, beginning at 11 p.m., EST, in the Chicago Stadium will be broadcast nationally by CBS and shown on closed circuit television in 140 cities and 38 states, Canada and the District of Columbia.

Likelihood of a new indoor fight gate record dwindled with only $256,000, excluding reservations, in the sponsoring International Boxing Club's till at noon Monday. Unless a tremendous box office rush develops before fight time, the record of $422,918 set in the stadium in 1947 by Tony Zale and Rocky Graziano appears safe. Actual attendance may be between 17,000 and 20,000.

Can Sugar Make 160—?

Considerable mystery surrounding Robinson's weight will be lifted at Tuesday noon's official weighing in the stadium ring. Rumors had it Sugar Ray was four or five pounds over the 160 limit Saturday and will have to dry out plenty to make the official poundage. He just made 160 when he was dethroned by Basilio in their fierce 15-round battle in New York last Sept. 23.

Basilio, smallest bona fide middleweight champion in history, has no weight problem at all. He'll probably scale 153 or 154 and by fight time may be spotting Sugar Ray as many as 10 pounds. Former heavyweight champion Joe Louis said that Robinson, after a heavy nourishing post-weighting meal may be as heavy as 165 entering the ring.

Basilio, at 5-6½, also will spot Robinson more than 4 inches in height and about 3 inches in reach. But Carmen, 30, has a 7-year advantage in the vital age department.

It isn't Robinson's weight, height or reach, the boring-in Basilio needs to fear. It's Sugar Ray's knockout punch which the 37-year-old Robinson phenomenally seems to unleash when his back is against the wall.

Won Three By Kays

As a matter of fact, each of three times Robinson previously won back the middleweight title, he did it by knockouts—Randy Turpin in 1951; Bobo Olson in 1955; and Gene Fullmer last May.

Fullmer, like Basilio, had dethroned Robinson in New York over the full 15-round routine. In each instance, the decision was close enough to dispute.

It seems Robinson the champion doesn't fight as savagely as Robinson the challenger.

Although Robinson collected 45 per cent, or some $480,000, in his first fight with Basilio, Tuesday night's payoff will be more money in the bank for him. The government grabbed that purse for back taxes and Sugar Ray wound up with little more than $100,000.

Robinson's attorney, Marty Machet, reported Monday that, as far as he knows there will be no Internal Revenue man hunting Sugar Ray's sugar this time. Robinson and Basilio will have a 30-30 share of everything, including net gate, an estimated $300,000 from theater TV, $30,000 from radio, and movie fees to be figured later. If the net gate approximates $400,000, which now seems quite unlikely, Robinson and Basilio each would wind up with a $220,000 purse.

The bidding:
 East South West North
 Pass 1 heart Pass 2 hearts
 Pass 4 hearts Pass Pass

Opening lead: King of clubs.

It was difficult to avoid reaching a game contract on today's hand, for North could hardly refrain from raising his partner's opening one heart bid.

The South hand had an original valuation of 18 points but after hearts had been supported the holding was enhanced by three points—one for the fifth heart and two for the sixth. The rebid of four hearts was, therefore, mandatory.

Unfortunately, however, North had the "wrong" hand. Many a dummy containing no more than seven points might render the contract a laydown.

West opened the king of clubs and when dummy was spread it seemed to declarer there was no very sound play for the hand. Apparently he must lose two spades, a diamond and a club.

There were two possible holdings on which the hand could be made legitimately: (a) king and queen of diamonds both in the East hand and the ace of spades right (b) the ace-queen of spades doubleton in the East hand.

South decided to try the latter play and drew trumps in three rounds winding up in dummy. A low spade was led next and when East put on the nine declarer's hope apparently went glimmering. Declarer went with the king and lost to West's ace. West then cashed the queen of clubs and continued with a third round.

This gave declarer a chance. If East's original holding had been the queen-nine of spades declarer was now home. Upon ruffing the third round of clubs, he played the six of spades and ducked in the North hand. East was compelled to win with the queen and the diamond shift came, too late. Declarer won with the ace and led the three of spades, finessing the eight in dummy. The losing diamond was then discarded on dummy's jack of spades.

The full moon is nine times as bright as a half moon.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, March 24 (INS)—What actor and actress will be chosen to receive the coveted Oscars Wednesday night? That's the big question of the day because it's never sure until the ballots are counted.

At a recent dinner party the guests gave Alec Guinness who thought Anthony Quinn in "Wild Is the Wind" might be a dark horse because the votes probably will be split between Guinness and Marlon Brando whose performance in "Sayonara" has won many supporters.

Then there's Charles Laughton in "Witness for the Prosecution" (he won once before for "Mutiny on the Bounty"). And Shelley Winters is betting on her husband Anthony Franciosa for "Hatful of Rain." He is flying over from Rome for the big event.

The selection for best performance by an actress poses a problem. At our dinner party Joanne Woodward in "Three Faces of Eve" had the most votes. Elizabeth Taylor was a very close second for "Raintree County." Deborah Kerr, who should have won it last year for "King and I," was not far behind Joanne and Elizabeth for "Heaven Knows Mr. Allison." Lana Turner rated some sentimental votes for "Peyton Place." I doubt somehow if Anna Magnani will win it, but I could be wrong.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Samuel Goldwyn—Jr., that is—telephoned me that he had made arrangements with Walt Disney to release "The Proud Rebel."

Jeff Hunter, who was out of circulation for almost three months with hepatitis, is still on a special diet.

Patti Page gets here day after tomorrow to discuss a movie with Jerry Wald. She certainly should be in pictures with her talent and beauty.

I am so glad that Ben Kahane will receive a special award at the Academy Awards. George Stevens, in suggesting this, spoke about all the jobs in the industry Ben has saved and about his great contribution to the industry. Thank goodness Ben's health is excellent and that's why he accepted the post of administrative head of Columbia.

The six MacDonald Carey youngsters gave Mac a full course of Spanish lessons for his birthday. Might come in handy when he goes to Spain for "John Paul Jones."

Borden Mace, Louis de Rochemont president, says the final print of "Windjammer" is ready. This is Elmer Rhoden's first in the new Cinemacra process and opens at the Chinese April 8.

Burl Ives was quietly tested for the role of the sheik in "Ben Hur" and I hear this test is utterly or fully good.

Integration In Theatres Urged Here

A delegation yesterday urged city would have the power to order theatres open to all on Sunday.

Rabbi Stanley Levin, 3 Altamont Terrace, said the Ministerial Association had contacted the Chamber of Commerce but the Chamber could not take action. He said he saw no reason why council could not go on record for or against. He said the proposal is nothing new and had first been proposed in November.

The rabbi's sentiments were echoed by Mrs. Madah E. Topson who said the group would like to know "how you feel" on the matter.

Mayor Roy W. Eves said council could not vote feelings. He said the group was asking a lot to have council consolidate its feelings into one.

It was pointed out by City Attorney Thomas B. Finan that under its Sunday license law, the

Secrets Of Charm

Reliable Attractions—Gayety And Enthusiasm

One quality in women that has phone and an obviously delighted magnet appeal for men is an air of participation in an evening of gayety and enthusiasm. For some men, no other quality is more attractive and all men find it hard to resist. Just think of who's the belle of the ball at the next party you go to. Other girls may be prettier, but it's that certain sparkler who's having the whirl.

Gayety is contagious—everyone has more fun when you do and show it. And it attracts the escorts who are the most fun to go out with. A man hopes to enjoy an evening just as you do, and is certainly more inclined to invite the girl who seems to promise that both of them will. The girl who's last to enter into the spirit of things is most likely to be last on the list.

Men aren't as sure of themselves as women often think they are. They're not always positive that merely asking a girl for a date throws her into a delirium of joy, no matter how confident they sound. They're not always convinced that a girl is madly happy just to be out with them—they like her to show that she's having a wonderful time. A sparkling response on the tele-

Then there's the matter of sustaining that first bright impression. A man isn't nearly as enthusiastic himself about pairing off with you if you go stale. Perhaps you were responsive and gay on your first dates with your favorite young man; but now that he's a habit, has your manner changed? Do you agree to appointments laconically? Do you sit back too often and wait to be entertained? Don't force the issue. Don't put on a constant air of false gayety. But make every effort to keep your attitude toward life and good times fresh and evident. Put sparkle into every situation that you can.

Television and Radio

by John Crosby

A Plea For Experiment

The three television networks, declared Fred Coe the other day, ought to set aside an hour and a half a week for experimental programs if we are not to drown in imitative mediocrity.

"I don't care if they do it at 2:30 in the morning. There should be an hour and a half set aside for experimental programming and the three networks ought to collaborate and cooperate in putting it on. Maybe NBC could do it one week, CBS the next and ABC the following week—something like that—but it should be strictly experimental—theater, ballet, maybe how to read poetry on TV. What it should not be is a trout for a Goodson-Todman quiz show. It should be wild as all get-out; the commercial angles could come later on somebody else's program."

Coe is one of the few genuine pioneers in television. Though still absurdly young-looking, Coe invaded television almost the moment it started and has produced such milestones as "Peter Pan" and "Marty." Producers Showcase, and Philco Theater and he will produce "The Red Mill" for DuPont's show of the month. Those of us who have been observing television these last ten years agree wholeheartedly that TV must experiment or it will shrivel into a parlor game. Coe's idea of the three networks cooperating on one program is the most sensible I have heard yet because it would mean a sharing of the expense, the credit, the blame, the fun, and the facilities—and all those things ought to be shared.

"Television started that way," say Coe who was at the beginning. "There was a tremendous vacuum. If you wanted to read the Bible, it got on because there wasn't anything else. Today people come to me and say 'How do I get on?' and I don't know what to tell them. Some of them have had seven years of summer stock, nightclub work—but they need a place to make mistakes on TV. We all do."

"When I started we all made mistakes. In fact we made mistakes more often than we got things right. But the axe didn't fall unless we made the same mistake three times in a row." Coe pointed out that in movies, a producer could slip off and

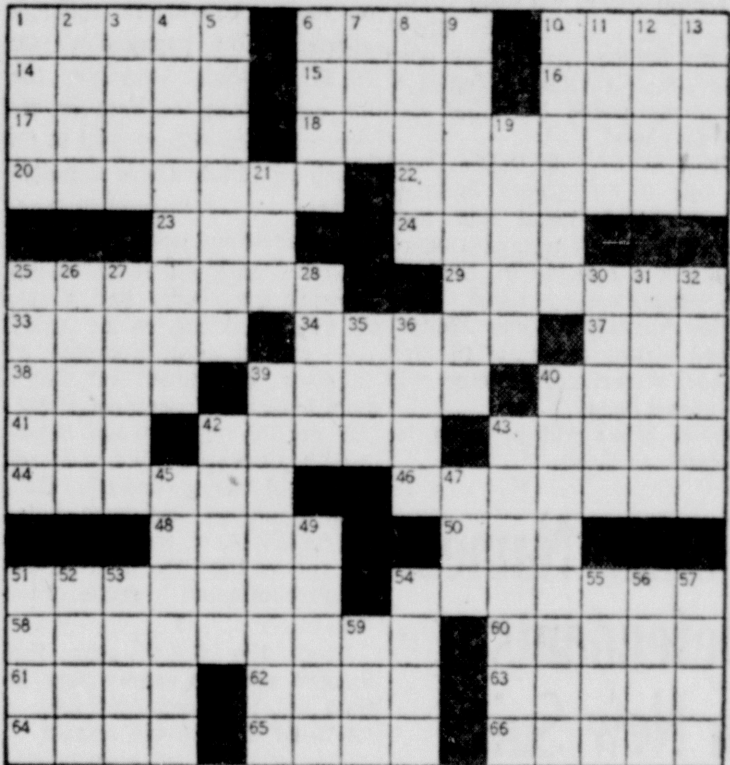

I think such a plan is almost compulsory if television is not to lose its audience. Already, Coe, a pioneer and once an incurable viewer of television, admits that he hardly ever looks at it any more. "I'm awful choosy. I used to be an addict." If it loses the attention of its own brightest people in a welter of sameness and predictability, how can television keep the interest of the bright people in other professions? And, if it can't do that, we must cease to take it seriously as a medium.

Television has made tremendous gains in technique, in sheer professional know-how. What it has lost is the sheer excitement, the fun, the unpredictability—and that is what an Experimental Theater would be designed to recapture.

Market, Led By Coppers, Nears '58 Recovery High

NEW YORK (AP)—Copper shares again paced an advance as the stock market Monday nudged close to its 1958 recovery high. The rise was irregular and it stalled at mid-session. A rally by oils started things rolling again and closing prices were the best of the day.

Leading stocks added fractions to about 2 points. Losses went from fractions to around a point. Coppers were strong from the start, continuing their rise of last week as there were renewed reports of higher prices for the metal and good demand. Their good gains at the start were clipped by noon as profit taking appeared. The list as a whole was lower.

Selling pressure failed to gather momentum, however. The oils rallied. Rails extended small early gains. Steels went forward temporarily but were mixed by the close. Coppers closed around their best.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 60 cents to $164.60, only 40 cents below the high of Feb. 4 after recovering from last fall's slump. The industrials were up 80 cents, the rails up $1.00 and the utilities up 10 cents.

The Dow Jones industrial average rose 1.26 to 453.75. Its peak on Feb. 4 for 9158 and 4 new lows. Volume totaled 2,580,000 shares compared with 2,430,000 Friday and was the best since 2,830,000 shares changed hands March 13.

County Board To Get Request On Library Plan

Extended Service Urged This Year

The County Library Committee last night agreed to urge the Board of County Commissioners to establish a county library system.

Dr. Adam Baer of Frostburg, chairman of the committee, said the group met in the Cumberland Free Public Library and discussed the progress of their activity to have Allegany County benefit from this broadening of reading opportunity.

If the county commissioners will act upon a state law which enables them to sponsor a county-wide library system, he said, there will be available to Allegany County for library use a total of 16 cents per capita in state funds, or $14,329 based upon the 1950 census. There will also be available immediately a federal grant of $20,000, plus $4,000 in federal grants each year through June 30, 1961.

2-Cent Tax Earmark

To qualify for this state and federal library aid, Dr. Baer said, the county board must include in its levy a two-cent assessment on each $100, earmarked for library use. This will provide about $31,000 a year for the program.

The federal money or grant of $20,000 the first year is to be used to purchase a bookmobile which will carry library books and service to all sections of the county, operating out of the Cumberland and Frostburg libraries. To buy such a vehicle and equip it with books will cost around $16,000. In future years, as replacement becomes necessary, the county library budget would provide for depreciation so the vehicle can eventually be replaced without an added burden to the county in any one year, Dr. Baer noted.

State and county money will be used for books and administration. Experience in other counties shows that the cost to the county after the system is established does not increase in proportion to the population, but tends to get less per capita as the library is equipped.

Allegany County is one of eight in the state that has not taken advantage of this plan. Baltimore City and most participating counties started their programs as far back as 1946 and have been benefiting with federal and state grants since that time.

Levy To Be Set Soon

The Board of County Commissioners must set the new levy on April 15 and is now considering budgets to set the 1958-59 tax rate. The committee hopes to have the board pass a resolution incorporating Allegany County in to the library plan and including the levy in the budget so that service can be started by fall.

A committee was appointed to prepare an estimate of receipts and expenditures to show the county commissioners how the program is expected to work, along with experience figures from other counties.

Parent-teachers associations, civic clubs, women's clubs, service clubs and others have endorsed the program and the county commissioners have received communications urging favorable action.

There are now public libraries in Cumberland, Frostburg, LaVale and Westernport, supported by municipal funds, clubs and organizations, and individual gifts. These programs would continue and the additional funds appropriated and received as grants would have to be used for additional and expanded library services to all residents of the county.

Present at the meeting last night were, besides Dr. Baer, Mrs. Virgil Atkinson, Flintstone; Mrs. Charles L. Kopp, Braddock Road; Francis H. Deremer, Corriganville; George Franklin Marten, Frostburg; Mrs. Richard D. Heacock, LaVale; and F. Allan Weatherholt, Cumberland.

Firemen Check Four Calls Here

City firemen answered four calls yesterday including two fire fires and two smoke scares.

South End firemen were called to 2 Maple Street at 6:48 a. m. and checked a flue fire. They were called out again at 3:04 p. m. and checked a flue fire at 523 Franks Lane.

The pumper from Central fire station was called to 626 North Mechanic Street at 5:59 p. m. The call proved to be a smoke scare.

About half an hour later the firemen from Central station took the 85-foot aerial truck and the pumper to the Maryland Hotel, corner of Baltimore and North Mechanic streets.

Smoke was reported to have been seen along the fire escape on the third floor of the building. The firemen made an inspection of the building where the smoke was reported, but found none.

Will Ask Bids

The City Park Board yesterday was authorized to ask bids for the operation of the concession stand and casino at the Constitution Park swimming pool.

ROBERT W. YOUNG

R. W. Young, Well-Known Realtor, Dies

Robert Wellington Young, 67, of 30 Virginia Avenue, local real estate and insurance man, died at Memorial Hospital yesterday at 6:15 p. m. He had been ill for about five days and was admitted to the hospital on Sunday.

Mr. Young was born at Keyser, W. Va., a son of the late James R. Young and Mrs. Annie E. (Fisher) Young, on January 13, 1891. He moved to Cumberland with his family when he was 5½ years old.

The well-known businessman served as postmaster in 1917 of Station A, in the South Cumberland area where he had resided almost all his lifetime. He served in the Navy during World War I and was an assistant secretary of the YMCA in Deming, N. M., during the Mexican uprising. He had been semi-retired after the sale of his insurance business some years ago.

Mr. Young served on the Salvation Army advisory board here, in which he held a life membership. A charter member of the Cumberland Kiwanis Club, he was a past grand master of Maryland of the IOOF, was a member of Chapel Hill Lodge of IOOF, was a member and superintendent of the Grace Methodist Church Sunday School; was a member of the Cumberland Real Estate Board; and was honored March 14 by Davis Memorial Church, of which he was an organizer. He also attended the Tri-State Commercial College here.

Survivors include his wife, a daughter, Mrs. Thelma (Young) Friedel; a brother, Bernard A. Young, Washington, and four grandchildren.

The body will be at the Scarcelli Funeral Home until Thursday at 11 a. m. when it will be taken to Grace Methodist Church for funeral services at 3 p. m. Rev. Robert Nimon, pastor, will officiate and interment will be in Rose Hill Cemetery.

Visiting hours at the funeral home will be from 2 until 4 p. m. and from 7 until 9 p. m. The family has requested that flowers be omitted.

Don't Look Now, But . . .

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. of Maryland boasted Monday its annual report for 1957 that there were "fewer troubles per telephone than ever before."

Issuance of the report came at an unfortunate time. Some 30,000 Maryland telephones still were out of service from last Wednesday's snowstorm.

At one time, a total of 65,000 were out of order.

(The report, of course, dealt only with last year's operations.)

W. G. Morrell, vice president, reported that 72,000 telephones were added in Maryland last year. That increased the total to nearly 1,100,000.

Expansion of dial telephones was one of the main advancements during 1957 cited by the vice president. They now are available to 87 per cent of Maryland telephone users.

On the financial side, Morrell said the C&P continued to lose money on its investment.

"Even though dollar earnings during 1957 were $1,185,000," he reported, "when related to the $36,000,000 increase in investment during the year we earned only 3.3 per cent on the new money invested."

Child, Hit By Car, Is 'Satisfactory'

Dena Korna, 4, of RD 1, Hyndman, Pa., who was struck by a car on Route 96, four miles south of Hyndman on Sunday afternoon, is reported in satisfactory condition at Memorial Hospital.

She was reported to have sustained a head injury when she ran onto the highway from behind a parked car and was hit by a car operated by Ronald Wayne Adams, 19, of 109 Hay Street, police said. The child is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Korna.

Winter, Details Halt Progress On W.Va. Roads

Solons Investigate Highway Office

CHARLESTON (AP)—Why hasn't the State Road Commission awarded any construction contracts in West Virginia so far this year?

On this score, folks back home have been putting pressure on members of the Legislature. So, a six-man legislative subcommittee trooped into the SRC offices here Monday to seek the answer.

The subcommittee, headed by Senate Finance Chairman Glenn Jackson (D-Logan), talked with the highway agency's No. 2 man, Asst. Commissioner George E. White Jr., and Comptroller H. L. Browning III. The top man, Commissioner Patrick C. Grane, is vacationing in Florida.

This is the substance of the explanation given by White, with some help on the figures from Browning:

On the interstate highway program, for which the federal government pays 90 per cent of the cost, the commission is moving ahead as fast as it can with engineering and right-of-way acquisition.

The first letting of an interstate contract may be in April, although this is still under consideration. At any rate, the commission expects $17,700,000 to be spent on interstate construction in the state this year. The state's outlay for this would be about $2,400,000.

As to regular federal aid jobs, as opposed to the interstate system, and special maintenance such as resurfacing, the commission is holding off until it has a better idea where it stands.

For one thing, White said, it probably will be another month before the highway damage of a disastrous winter has been completely assessed.

"People who have been here (with the Road Commission) 30 years say they have never seen a winter like this past one," White said.

Once the commission knows how much it will cost to repair the ravages of winter, it will have a better idea how much it can afford to spend on other work. (Continued on Page 3)

Council Begins Action To Close Canal Street

The Mayor and Council passed an introductory ordinance yesterday for the closing of Canal Street.

Final hearing and action of the proposal is scheduled Monday, April 28. The ordinance also provides for appointment of commissioners to assess any damages involved in the closing.

Under the plan, Canal Street would be closed from Baltimore Street to the Western Maryland Railway, passenger station, a distance of 365 feet. The closing had been requested by the railway after it had announced plans for a 100-car parking lot on its South Mechanic Street freight station property. The lot will be leased for commercial use.

Hunter B. Hellrich, 727 Sylvan Avenue, a former city commissioner, appeared to ask council what purpose would be gained by closing the street, adding it is used mainly for Western Maryland purposes anyway.

City Attorney Thomas B. Finan pointed out that Canal Street branches into two sections, one along the railway freight shed and the other to its depot. He said the only easement the city or public had on the street was the section to the depot.

The land itself belongs to the Western Maryland and it maintains if it gives up property on South Mechanic Street, traffic will be increased on Canal Street where it has access to its freight house.

Finan also pointed out the parking lot was not the Western Maryland's idea. The city had asked the railway if it would consider such a facility, Finan added.

Council passed the introductory ordinance unanimously. Mrs. Josephine Edwards, commissioner of water and electric light, was absent.

Only 14 Incumbents Have No Opposition

By LOUIS G. PANOS

BALTIMORE (AP)—Although 72 of the 466 legislative candidates in Maryland's May 20 primaries are unopposed, only 14 of these are incumbents trying for four more years in their present jobs. Getting a free ride in the Senate are veteran Sen. Malkus, the Dorchester County Democrat seeking a third straight term, and six freshmen in that chamber—Sens. Cole (R-Balto 4th), Flanagan (R-Carroll), Nock (D-Wicomico), Northrop (D-Montgomery), North (D-Talbot) and Rasin (D-Kent).

The only delegates without opposition for renomination are all Democrats—W. Paul Joiner of Kent County and the entire six-member delegation from Prince Georges.

Seven other senators, including President Goldstein (D-Calvert) and Majority Leader Turnbull (D-Balto County), are giving up their

No Visitors: Lack Of Parking Deters Fritchie House Tourists

FREDERICK (AP)—"Shoot if you must this old gray head."

"But don't block my parking space," she said.

This might well be the cry of the ghost of Barbara Fritchie these days as she sees her venerable shrine and historic tourist attraction choked off by modern traffic conditions.

In 1933, the last year before West Patrick street became one way westbound, 13,270 persons visited the famed Barbara Fritchie House on West Patrick street near Bentz street.

One year later, the tourist attendance had dropped one fourth to 9,917, largely because West Patrick became a one-way street.

Now, the attendance of tourists at the Barbara Fritchie House, although slightly greater in 1957 than in 1956, is down to a mere 7,873, almost half of its attendance total in 1933.

And the historical institution "is not making money," according to the board of directors.

The reason for the further cut-down in attendance figures in recent years is that "only one parking space is reserved for visitors and even this one-car parking place is usually occupied by a local citizen," the directors complain.

Out-Of-Way Spots

A glance at the Frederick city map will show the difficulties of parking elsewhere near the Barbara Fritchie Home.

The next intersection after passing the house is southbound Bentz street, which does not lead to a very desirable parking area for out-of-town motorists.

The only other alternative is to go all the way to College avenue on Patrick street and then come back to Carroll Parkway, which is usually crowded since it is the first free parking area west of downtown Frederick.

Actually, the 177-car municipal parking lot on South Court street is only little more than a block away from the Barbara Fritchie Home, but the location is not suitable for the passing tourist unfamiliar with the locale.

The members of the board of directors of the Barbara Fritchie Home, Inc., who took over the restored house in 1944, look back nostalgically to that great day in 1943 when Sir Winston Churchill, then the British Prime Minister, visited the home and was able to outquote President Roosevelt.

Harry Hopkins and other White House aides with him in remembering the lines from John Greenleaf Whittier's poem which made Dame Barbara and Frederick famous.

Mrs. Grace Clary, one of the directors, remembers other great events, such as the visit there of the family of John Philip Sousa, and the many weddings of out-towners for sentimental reasons.

Tourist Business Off

The house still contains historic documents such as a copy of the John Casper Fritchie will, giving the house to Barbara, executed by the grandfather of former Governor Ritchie, and an original copy of the Atlantic Monthly in which the Whittier poem first appeared.

The tradition of the past still lives in the Quinn and Mantz families of Frederick, who are the direct descendants of the sisters of childless Barbara Fritchie.

It is not the past, but the future which worries the operators of the Barbara Fritchie Home, however.

William Clary, who operates the concession stand, sums it up this way: "Business has been going down each year, and will go down even more after the Frederick by-pass is in full operation."

The by-pass is scheduled to be completed next November.

Over 200 Visit Area Art Exhibit

More than 200 persons have visited the annual Tri-State Art Exhibit which started March 17 at the Cumberland Free Public Library.

There are some 64 entries of offering varied examples of creative art. The exhibit, sponsored by the Cumberland Branch, American Association of University Women, will continue through this week.

Although 13 entries were singled out for awards by Robert E. Kinsley, Hagerstown, the judge, visitors are asked to name their favorite from among the exhibits.

Maryland Day Is Holiday For Many Offices

A number of offices will be closed in Cumberland today in observance of Maryland Day. Although Allegany County Court House offices will mark the holiday, people will be able to purchase their 1958 Maryland auto tags at the tax collector's office on the first floor.

Juvenile Court and Trial Magistrate's Court in the Union Street County building will not be open today. State's Attorney James S. Getty announced his office will also be closed.

There will be no Police Court at the Public Safety Building this morning. Local and area offices of the Maryland Department of Employment Security will remain open as usual.

The Allegany County Welfare Board office, according to Mrs. Elinor Westerfield, director, will be closed today.

Local banks will be open for business as usual.

Annans Named Defendants In New Suit

Mr. and Mrs. R. Green Annan, former residents of Allegany County, and the R. Green Annan Development Corporation are defendants in an action in Circuit Court in Fort Lauderdale, Fla. J. W. Miller, described as the owner of an apartment in the Hillsboro Mile Ocean Apartments at Fort Lauderdale, has asked the court to rescind his contract with Mr. and Mrs. Annan and the Annan Corporation.

The Annans and their company are defendants in more than one dozen various types of law suits on file in Circuit Court at Fort Lauderdale and in U. S. District Court at Miami.

In the latest complaint, Mr. Miller charges the defendants with falsely telling him his maintenance charges for the one-bedroom apartment would be $750 annually when the actual amount is $1,400. The Annans also are accused of having failed to register stock in the apartment project with the Florida Securities Commission, making false representations concerning the land under lease, and failing to provide quarters for a resident manager.

Webster Cites Budget Item

Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster submitted a letter to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday explaining why the item in the 1958-59 school budget for janitors' retirement and Social Security was increased from $30,200 to $35,000.

Mr. Webster submitted a copy of correspondence between the director of the State Employees' Retirement System and George Buck, actuary, which established the amount Allegany County was supposed to pay.

The superintendent expressed doubt that the $35,000 would cover all of the expense as retirement is taking $28,609 this year and Social Security nearly $7,000.

The county commissioners turned over to their attorney, Gorman E. Getty, a letter from L. Littlefield Jr., Richmond, Va., secretary of Cumberland Coca-Cola Bottling Works, Inc.

Mr. Littlefield explains that he understands a $10,000 exemption of personal property is allowed for businesses that have had to make unusual outlays of capital to meet present day competition. He said his company during 1957 spent $13,106.15 for multi-drink coolers and $8,735.68 for pre-mix equipment.

Funds Available For County Road Projects

June 30 Deadline For Federal Aid

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners was informed yesterday that it will have a balance of $23,700.57 when all bills are paid on the access road to the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company plant plus some $60,579.97 in unprogrammed federal aid which must be under agreement by June 30.

This information was contained in a letter from Morris M. Brodsky, assistant comptroller for the State Roads Commission.

Mr. Brodsky expressed thanks for the commissioners' action in approving the payment of $3,730.27 to Green Associates Inc. for engineering services on the North Branch access road to the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company plant.

The assistant comptroller submitted a statement to the county showing the county had a $21,220.62 cash deficit on the access road project as of February 28. However, he pointed out that a final federal aid payment of $28,600 on the Mt. Savage School road has been received in March and the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company has been billed for $20,051.46, or ten per cent of the cost of the PPG road project which eliminated a grade crossing.

When the B & O pays that amount and the county pays its final bill to Green Associates a $23,700.57 balance will remain.

This special road account had $339,261.60 balance as of July 1, 1957. During last July and February 28, $112,474.03 in federal aid and $51,032.98 in county funds had been received. In that same period $523,989.23 was spent on the North Branch access road.

Mr. Brodsky concluded his letter by explaining that $257,238.97 in federal aid is available to the county between now and June 30, 1960. Included is $60,579.97 remaining for the current fiscal year, $97,065 for the year ending June 30, 1959, and $99,594 in the year ending June 30, 1960.

Youth Group Election Is Set Tonight

A program of suggested activities for the Youth Commission of Allegany County has been outlined for tonight's organizational meeting at 8 p. m. at Central YMCA.

The meeting will be divided into three segments, concluding with the election of officers for the new organization. Officials will be a chairman, vice chairman, secretary-treasurer and a board of directors.

The officers will be nominated and elected following a Youth Commission forum during which the suggested activities for the group will be outlined and then discussed in more complete form under the guidance of various heads of youth departments in the county.

It is hoped to divide those attending the forum into smaller groups to discuss these activities into seven categories. They are: correctional facilities; mental and physical health; foster care and family counseling; recreation; police; school; and organized youth activities.

These smaller sub-divisions of the main group are being invited to discuss the contributions that can be made toward the solution of this county's juvenile problems.

The Youth Commission which is planned here is one of the major recommendations of the Maryland Commission for the Prevention and Treatment of Juvenile Delinquency. Invitations have been extended to representatives of all Allegany County agencies and organizations interested in youth problems.

Approximately 90 persons attended the first Youth Commission meeting held at City Hall on February 25.

CANDIDATE—William Jennings Brode, Clarysville, is one of the five candidates for nomination as county commissioner in the Allegany County Democratic Party's primary election on May 20.

The class of candidates who will become members this evening is named for the FOE Memorial Foundation which cares for the children of all deceased members who lost their lives in World War II and the Korean conflict.

The initiatory work will be in charge of Past Worthy President William T. Damm who will select a degree team from the officers and past presidents of the local Aerie.

Boden To Seek New Trial

Attorneys for Melvin Boden, 36, of Rockwood, Pa., who was found guilty of first degree murder of his wife in Somerset County Court, plan to file a motion for a new trial today.

On Saturday night after about four hours of deliberation, the petit jury returned its verdict, and members indicated in a poll that they favored life imprisonment for Boden for killing his wife, Mrs. Mary (Growth) Boden, 36, last November 17 at their home.

Judge Thomas F. Lansberry delayed sentencing Boden pending action of his attorneys, Frederick K. Coffert and Robert M. Keim.

Meanwhile the two attorneys, who will also represent Harry Boden, 48, brother of Melvin Boden, have indicated they will ask for a continuance of his trial to the May term of court.

Harry Boden is charged with murder and arson and being an accessory in the death of his brother's wife.

Rain And Snow Slow Traffic; More Expected

Most Roads Are Wet But Clear

Anyone who enjoys frolicking in rain should be happy today, since the Weather Bureau has issued a forecast of rain, possibly becoming heavy.

Miserable weather which consisted of a mixture of cold rain and snow had everyone complaining yesterday. Motorists were slowed down quite a bit along U. S. Route 40 west of Cumberland last night as accumulations of snow made the highway slippery.

Maryland State Police said at least one highway accident was reported along that route west of Frostburg. The accident apparently was not serious, as the trooper who investigated did not file any report of injuries.

East of Cumberland, Route 40 was reported wet but not slippery, according to State Police, who said parts of Garrett County were getting snow last night.

Ralph Weber, official weather observer in that county, said last night that it started to snow there before noon yesterday and by dark the snow had turned to rain. He said there was little melting of old snow going on due to the prevailing chilly temperatures. The mercury reached 38 degrees in Garrett County yesterday, where the low temperature was 34 degrees. Cold rain was reported in the general area.

Half-Inch In City

A check with the Tri-Towns and Lonaconing showed that rain was falling there. Robert R. Golden, superintendent of the Constitution Park and weather observer here, said that about half an inch of snow covered the park area last night and during the day there was a total of about .12 inches of precipitation.

The official high in Cumberland yesterday was 42 degrees and the official low was 25 degrees. Mr. Golden said. The Potomac River rose slightly during the day. At noon it measured 4.26 feet and by 9 o'clock last night it measured 4.35 feet at the Wiley Ford bridge gauge.

The temperature may go into the 50s this afternoon, according to the Weather Bureau.

Rat Killing Project Is Planned Here

The Allegany County Health Department is planning to supervise a rat extermination project here soon.

The plan calls for exterminating rats which are believed harboring in nine homes which are to be razed by the State Roads Commission for the south approach of the Cumberland Thruway.

The homes were purchased recently from the Cumberland Housing Authority, which had planned to use the sites for its third housing project.

They have been standing idle for some time, awaiting agreement on the conflict between the housing project and the Thruway.

J. B. Dowling, Health Department sanitarian, said similar rat extermination is to be provided for five vacant dwellings on the site of the proposed housing project.

He said the SRC and the Housing Authority authorized the Health Department to start the extermination project before the houses are torn down.

Rats were exterminated from the vacant homes last year, he added, but the job will have to be repeated before the houses come down, to prevent the rats from moving to new quarters.
